Kids museum gets $250,000 gift

PHOENIX — The Bruce T. Halle Family Foundation recently announced a $250,000 gift commitment toward the construction of the Children's Museum of Phoenix.

In recognition of the gift, the museum will name the "10,000 Blocks" exhibit on behalf of the foundation.

The exhibit is one of dozens that will be featured when the former Monroe School is renovated and opened in late 2007.

Additional funding was recently provided by the Arizona Community Foundation.

The organization awarded the Children's Museum of Phoenix with a grant of $75,000. Funding for the grant was made possible through the support of the Sybil B. Harrington Trust.
